Brentwood Youth Guilty of Attempt To Kill Constable

John Bertelsen to Be Sentenced Monday Assize Jury Deliberates More Than Two Hours

An Assize Court jury late yesterday found 17-year-old John Bertelsen guilty of the attempted murder of Constable Stanley Cornish last July 20. He was remanded until Monday for sentence by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

In the last case before the Fall Criminal Assizes, the jury deliberated two hours and 15 minutes before reaching a verdict.

The tall, fair-haired Brentwood youth stood pale and impassive in the dock as the jury's decision was announced to a court almost devoid of spectators.

Called to the stand earlier in the day by Defence Counsel J. G. Rutan, Bertelsen testified that he had only vague recollections of the night on which the shooting had taken place.

"I remember leaving the Crystal Garden after the dance. I was in the back seat of the car. Then the car stopped and I saw something coming at me and then there was an explosion," he stated.

EVERYTHING HAZY—BERTELSEN STATES

After this, he said, everything had been hazy. He said he had only dim recollections of wading through water and the next day woke up underneath a tree in the front yard of some house.

"I realized I must have done something wrong, and hid the gun under some leaves in the lawn," he said.

On the afternoon of July 19, he said, he had seen a car with the keys in the dashboard parked outside the Hudson's Bay Company store. He had been tempted and had jumped inside, driven it away and joined his companions later in the afternoon.

"Do you remember having the gun in your hand when you saw the policeman running at you beside the car?" Crown Prosecutor Woodcock asked.

"No," he replied. "I don't remember firing the gun at all. I was drunk. I may have been an impulsive, but all I can remember is an explosion."

Would Move All Troops From Zone

U.S. Suggests New Compromise

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP).—The United States offered a new compromise tonight to meet a Russian demand for a definite deadline on removal of foreign troops from Trieste.

Persons present at the deliberations of the Foreign Ministers' Council said that State Secretary Byrnes suggested a clause which would call for simultaneous withdrawal of all foreign troops from the area within 45 days after the Governor of Trieste notifies the United Nations Security Council that he is able to maintain order without them.

Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia as yet has not approved the compromise offer, still insisting that it show lack of confidence in the people of Trieste.

Mr. Molotov remained insistent, too, on fixing a definite date for elections in Trieste. This met with objection from the Western Powers, with Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain reminding Mr. Molotov that he (Bevin) had been assured of elections in Poland by this Spring, adding that they still have not been held. He used that as an illustration of the difficulty of fixing a definite date.

Opens Tender on Transportation System Franchise

Alderman Harold M. Diggon, chairman of the Greater Victoria transportation committee, is shown above as he opened the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd. tender for the unified transportation system franchise for the Greater Victoria area. This was the only bid received. Tender was opened at a public meeting of the committee held in the Council Chamber of the City Hall at noon yesterday. Shown with Alderman Diggon are Reeve A. G. Lambrick, Saanich representative on the committee, left, and Mayor Percy E. George.

Liner Wanganella Docks Here With 20 Passengers for City

The 10,000-ton motorship Wanganella docked at Ogden Point piers last night with 406 passengers after a 23-day journey from Sydney, Australia.

It marked the prelate's resumption of trans-Pacific liner service between "Down Under" and the Pacific Coast.

As the brilliantly illuminated Canadian-Australasian Line vessel nosed her way to the dock, passengers lined the rails to wave and shout greetings to a waiting crowd on the pier. In the ship's band played.

For many, the voyage meant a first opportunity of leaving Australia and New Zealand since the start of the World War, due to wartime travel restrictions.

About 20 passengers left the ship last night, some for brief stopovers in this city, others reside here. The vessel sailed at 9 p.m. for Vancouver. Passengers will leave the Mainland city for other parts of Canada and the United States. The ship will leave Vancouver December 4, calling at Victoria that afternoon, on the return journey.

Commanded by Capt. R. Darroch, the Wanganella was launched at Belfast in 1930.

From the holds were quickly unloaded about 25 tons of cargo, including fruit from Honolulu, and wool from Australia.

For Colin Martin, 2131 Central Avenue, it was a night to be remembered. On board the ship was his mother, Mrs. V. E. Martin, of Sydney. It was their first meeting in 20 years. Mrs. Martin will spend the Christmas holidays with her son.

Originally named Achimote, the ship was built for the West Africa trade. Throughout the war she served as a hospital ship, and it was on a grim night of June, 1940, that she saved more than 300 passengers and crew members of the Niagara, which struck German mines off the east coast of New Zealand. The Niagara made frequent calls to Victoria in pre-war days.

Still controlled by the Australian Government, her voyage to this coast is a special trip.

The minister, here on departmental business, said that Premier Mackenzie King was leaving Sunday for the Ottawa tax party with the deputy minister for finance as well as technical experts "with the idea of doing everything possible to make arrangements that will be fair to both parties and protect the Province at every point possible."

"We are not going to jeopardize British Columbia financial and economic position in any way at all."

Referring to statements by "would-be experts," the minister said it was quite clear "that the general situation and the proposals made by the National Government are not understood generally nor are the implications understood. They should be understood so that everybody may see the position we take and the reason for it."

Mail Service Begins by Air

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Nov. 22 (AP).—The first British air mail service between New Zealand and Canada started today with the departure of a New Zealand Air Force plane for Vancouver, where it will connect with an Australian National Airways plane for Vancouver.

It will be a fortnightly service, pending opening of a direct Vancouver-Auckland service.

Air mail will take six days to Vancouver. The rate is 2s 6d (32 cents) a half ounce compared with 4s by Pan-American service via the United States.

Will of Water Floods Homes

BARNESLEY, Yorkshire, England, Nov. 22 (AP).—A six-foot wall of water tonight swept through city streets, trapping more than 50 families in bedrooms, flooding stores and buildings and preventing miners and factory workers from going to work.

Mayor Charles Bentley described the flood, caused by torrential rains, as a "disaster" for hundreds of people who lost food, furniture and clothing. Some families refused to leave their homes.

Rising floods also threatened other areas of Britain after nine successive days of rains which caused many rivers to flood their banks.

Public Meeting Today To Discuss Sole Bid For Transport System

Amended Franchise From Coach Lines Plans Integration With Saanich Lines

Tender of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., was the only bid on a unified transportation system franchise for Greater Victoria received at the City Hall at noon yesterday, when tenders closed.

The bid was opened at a meeting of the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee by Alderman H. M. Diggon, chairman.

Contents of the 27-page draft franchise agreement, which comprised the company's tender, will be discussed at a public meeting to be held in the Council Chamber at 10 a.m. today.

So that the transportation system throughout Greater Victoria may be completely integrated, an agreement has been signed between the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., and the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd., calling for a universal fare structure and interchange of transfers.

An amended franchise agreement incorporating these and other features of the recent contract and covering operations of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines in certain areas of Saanich was submitted to the municipal council last night by Harold Husband, general manager of the Coach Lines.

"It would be possible to start the inauguration of the new service progressively over a period of 18 months as equipment becomes available, and to implement the proposed new fare structure and interchange of transfers early in the new year," Mr. Husband said.

Members of the committee present at the meeting yesterday were Alderman Diggon, Reeve T. Hadfield, Equilmont, Reeve A. G. Lambrick, Saanich, and Councillor J. V. Johnson, Oak Bay.

In return for an exclusive franchise the B.C. Electric Railway Co. promised to establish, progressively and as the necessary equipment becomes available, "an adequate and convenient motor bus system in substitution of the present street railway system in the municipalities, and to make all reasonable efforts to see that the work of substitution is completed within 18 months from the date when this agreement comes into force."

Alterations in the fare structure now in effect were proposed in the company's tender. The present six-cent cash fare will be raised to seven cents, but provision is made for a charge of five cents cash to all holders of a weekly permit sold for 25 cents. Tickets for adult passengers will be four for 25 cents.

Cash fare for children five years of age and under 12 years will be four cents. Children's tickets will be sold at eight for 25 cents. Two children more than five years and less than 12 years old, traveling together, may ride for one adult fare. School children will be permitted to purchase tickets at eight for 25 cents, subject to the usual restrictions.

As compensation for the use of the streets the company promised to pay to the municipalities concerned 4 per cent of the gross fare revenue earned within the municipalities by the operation of motor buses or street cars.

Approximately $250,000 will be paid proportionately to Victoria, Equilmont and Oak Bay to assist in defraying the cost to these municipalities of removing street car tracks.

New equipment which the company would purchase if granted the franchise was described in the tender as fully modern 36-passenger transit type buses, manufactured at Port William, Ont.

At present it is planned to operate only gasoline driven buses, W. C. Mainwaring, B.C. Electric vice-president, said. Trolley buses may be operated at a later date on three main lines fed by other routes using gas buses.

War Secretary Asks Training

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP).—War Secretary Patterson said in a speech tonight the War Department would urge the new Congress to approve universal military training as "a compelling need" because of the atom bomb.

Gales Sweeping Lakes As Winter Hits Ontario

TORONTO, Nov. 22 (AP).—Gales reaching a height of 60 miles an hour howled today across Lake Superior and Lake Huron.

Superior and Lake Huron and lake ships scurried for port as winter made its initial onslaught on Old Ontario.

Ice and snow came with the high winds, seemingly born of winter's first really cold wave in Western Canada.

In a matter of hours temperatures dropped as much as 30 degrees.

Snow drove with needle-like intensity through the streets of Ontario.

A partially constructed cement block building on St. Mary's Road here was blown down with damage of $4,000. There were no reports of injuries or loss of life.

But on the Great Lakes the storm made its full fury felt.

At Sault Ste. Marie the gale forced 79 vessels to seek shelter on Lake Superior. The St. Mary's River and at the Sault Ste. Marie lock piers.

Of these, 58 rode at anchor between the Sault and Whitefish Bay. Storm warnings went out early and the vessels hurriedly left wide-open dangerous stretches of water where the wind would have full play.

The driving snow reduced visibility to almost nil.

Still, on the lakes, there was no word of vessels in distress, according to the United States Coast Guard at Sault Ste. Marie.

The temperature at the Sault dropped to 7 degrees below zero.

In the Thunder Bay region the lake whipped up to mountainous waves before a wind reaching 45 miles an hour.

Were found late Thursday afternoon in their single room, unconscious from slashes about their throats. Taken to the Royal Jubilee Hospital by police, the babies were pronounced dead on arrival. Mrs. Yuen, whose injuries were not serious, was released from hospital to police custody yesterday afternoon.

Contents of a note found in the room were not made public.

Of Russian-Canadian descent, Mrs. Yuen came to Victoria from Saskatchewan two years ago with her Chinese husband, Yuen Chew-Shun, and their son, Eddie, now 12 years of age. The husband died approximately eight months ago from tuberculosis.

Investigation of the deaths is under the supervision of Chief of Police J. A. McLean and Detective-Inspector J. H. Rogers.

Police Capture Donald Russell

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 22 (Saturday) (AP).—Eighteen-year-old Donald Russell, sought for the slaying of Robert Tepperon eight days ago at his Woodlands home, was arrested at 1:15 this morning in a west end hotel by Vancouver City police.

According to police, Russell had been in Vancouver for a week. When captured he was unkempt and hungry. He had one cent in his pockets.

Russell offered no resistance to police.

He was turned over to the Provincial Police at North Vancouver.

Bulldozers Help Cars Near Nanaimo After Road Under Repair Washed Out

All bus schedules north of Nanaimo have been canceled until 2 p.m. today because of a washout on the Island Highway near Nanaimo, according to word received here last night.

This section of the road, which runs past the old Bitala Lumber Company mill, has been under repair for several months and repair crews are working quickly to drain the low-lying section. It is believed the road will be in fair shape by noon today.

Provincial Police, from Parksville to Victoria, reported only a few minor accidents. "The lack of accidents has been amazing," said Duncan, Nanaimo and Ladysmith police officers.

Roads on the Malahat were in "fair shape," according to Constable Jack Locke of the highway patrol. Nanaimo-Victoria buses were half an hour late on most runs yesterday. Six inches of snow was reported at Nanaimo, 12 inches at Parksville and only three at Port Alberni.

The Alberni mountain highway was clear but the Courtney road was "not good," according to police. Mud weather was reported from all Island points and slush is predominating. Sidney police reported a

Drastic Cut in Services Follows Miners' Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP).—A drastic curtailment of 21 states effective Monday evening was ordered by the Civilian Production Administration tonight as the soft coal strike began eating into the industrial production of the United States.

Meanwhile, John L. Lewis today accepted service of a contempt citation, formally joining battle with the United States Government in a court test over the soft coal strike.

The second day of the 400,000 United Mine Workers' walkout brought some recruits to their cause.

The C.P.A. regulations prohibit the use of electricity for outdoor and indoor advertising, among other things.

Reductions were ordered in street lighting and for incandescent outdoor and indoor signs.

Scattered layoffs were reported in industries dependent on coal for continued operations and industry spokesmen predicted the number of unemployed would swell to millions if the dispute were prolonged.

However, O.D.T. Director J. Monroe Johnson announced a planned embargo on rail freight traffic would be postponed "for several days." Existing coal stocks available to railroads, he said, made immediate action unnecessary.

Operations in some steel plants were ordered curtailed and railroads began, logging off some passenger train schedules to comply with a federal order for a 25 per cent reduction in coal-burning passenger train service Monday.

INTERLAKEN, Switzerland, Nov. 22 (AP).—Swiss mountain climbers today began a sparring race and a glider for desperate ventures to reach 11 passengers of a crashed United States Army transport plane who had survived three days and nights of bitter cold on the icy slopes of an 8,000-foot Alpine glacier.

The ground party faced a 20-hour climb, over rugged and treacherous terrain to the scene of the crash, 13 miles southeast of here. But there was a chance that a glider and parachutists would get there first.

Fit Lt. Thomas Frewin, pilot of a big British glider, said he was going to attempt to land tomorrow on the 30-degree slope of the glacier in the face of prevailing 70-mile-an-hour winds. A medical team may accompany Fit Lt. Frewin and his six-man volunteer crew.

In Frankfurt 70 volunteer parachutists were standing by for orders to make a hazardous mercy jump on the glacier tomorrow.

The commandant of the Swiss military airport at Wilderswil near here, said that according to his best information five of the survivors—all military personnel—were seen at the scene of the crash.

Only Airfield officials at Paris, where the ramified search was coordinated, announced all 11 passengers had survived.

Food and supplies were dropped at the scene by United States Army planes.

The Local Scene

Victorians Must Rise Early To See Sun Partly Eclipsed

Victorians will have to arise early this morning to witness the fourth partial eclipse of the year, according to Dr. K. O. Wright, astronomer at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory.

Dr. Wright said the eclipse would actually start 10 minutes before sunrise, but Victorians will first witness the phenomenon at 7:44 a.m. It will continue until 8:58 a.m., but experts hold little hope for clear visibility.

The eclipse, at its greatest, will be only 15 per cent in Victoria and the maximum eclipse will be at approximately 8:15 a.m., Victoria time. It will start at the top left part of the sun and go across to the right side, according to astronomers.

Eastern Canadians will have a more spectacular view of the eclipse, Dr. Wright relates, and in the East, at its greatest it will be 80 per cent. Solar eclipses are caused by the moon coming between the earth and the sun and blocking out the sun's light from the earth's view.

An observatory official said there was no particular scientific excitement in a partial eclipse. Astronomical parties will study the one today, but not since the total eclipse of 1932 has there been really high interest in the phenomenon. "One particular study today will be that of changes in terrestrial magnetic currents on the surface of the earth," he said.

Born and educated in Victoria, Ray is well known in the city, particularly in the sports field. He attended Oak Bay High School. He will now operate out of Montreal.

A bigger and better May 24 parade in 1947 was predicted last night after a meeting in the City Hall of the May 24 committee. It was decided to hold a meeting on January 19, to which all organizations that participated in the parade last year will be invited.

It was suggested that all schools be asked to participate in the parade and that Up-Island centres and all Coast cities be requested to make entries. The three services are expected to render full cooperation, it is reported.

Return to Dual Taxation Next Year Unless Ottawa Agreement Reached

Unless Premier John Hart's conference in Ottawa next week reaches an agreement satisfactory to the Provincial Government, the people of British Columbia can expect a return to dual taxation next year, with the Province back in the income and corporation tax field.

The Premier, who leaves tomorrow for Ottawa for a final discussion of Dominion-Provincial financial relations, said yesterday he would "use every effort to get a reasonable agreement for the Province."

"If that is not possible," Mr. Hart said, "I shall be reluctantly compelled to recommend that we go back into the taxing field."

Executive were G. Burns, Mrs. A. Pass, C. Armour and G. P. Roberts.

The meeting endorsed a resolution requesting improved conditions for old age pensioners.

McGeer Draws Only Blank From Premier

Senator G. G. McGeer's attempt to draw Premier John Hart into Vancouver city's election campaign have drawn a blank.

The Premier yesterday sent a reply to the candidate for Vancouver's mayoral robes telling him that the city's financial problems, which the Senator has been making a major issue during the last week or so, are a matter for the Goldenberg Commission to consider.

Senator McGeer has been vociferously pressing Vancouver's claims to a better financial deal from the Provincial and Federal Governments before Mr. Hart goes to Ottawa to confer on a new Dominion-Provincial agreement. Said Premier Hart in his reply:

"I feel that you have overlooked the fact that the Provincial Government set up a Royal Commission to inquire into such matters as well as Provincial-municipal financial relations, and to report with recommendations."

"Mr. Goldenberg . . . held several hearings in Vancouver and every opportunity was given to the mayor, aldermen and citizens to make representations to him. I do not know whether you submitted a brief on the problems referred to in your correspondence."

"You asked me to make a statement as to what the citizens of Vancouver are entitled to receive out of any agreement made with the Federal Government. You know very well that I cannot discuss an agreement which does not exist. I will, however, make this statement for the benefit of the citizens of Vancouver: that when the commission submits its report to me, it will be given immediate consideration by the Government."

Traffic Fatality Accidental Jury Decides at Inquest Here

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury inquiring into the death of Mrs. Ellen Bridget Payne, 224 Courtney Street, fatally injured in a traffic accident at the intersection of Port and Vancouver Streets last Sunday evening.

Warrant Officer Noel H. R. Gleave, H.M.C.S. Glenchy, driver of the automobile involved, said he saw Mrs. Payne, a pedestrian, while he was proceeding east on Port Street, about 40 or 50 feet from the intersection. She was crossing Port Street from the north to the south side, he said, and had stopped in the centre of the road, apparently to allow his car to pass.

As he passed the spot where Mrs. Payne had been standing, W.O. Gleave said, he felt a bump at the rear of his car and immediately applied the brakes, causing the vehicle to skid completely around.

Getting out of his car he saw the woman lying on the road between the street car tracks, he testified. Realizing she was badly hurt, Gleave said he had taken her in his car to the Royal Jubilee Hospital. Mrs. Payne was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

The automobile, a 1937 sedan, was in good condition, Gleave stated. He had purchased the machine only a few days before and was driving

Navy Veteran Reaches Here On Wanganella

"This sure is a wonderful night for me," remarked a young man at the Ogden Point pier last night as the Wanganella eased her way to the dock.

He was Donald Garris, of Seattle, and on board the ship was Miss Nancy Harrison, a girl he had met in Newcastle, Australia, while he was serving with the United States Army. He had left her nearly three years ago.

"You bet! We're going to Seattle tomorrow to get married," he answered to a question regarding the possibility. Under his arm he carried a box containing a large corsage.

Among approximately 20 of the 400 passengers disembarking here were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Connelly, of Brisbane, Australia. Formerly of Winnipeg, Mrs. Connelly was one of 300 Canadian war brides of Australian servicemen who left for the home country of their husbands in October of 1945 from San Francisco. The couple and their young son, were greeted here by Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Day, 3240 Doncaster Drive, whose daughter went to Australia more than a year ago as the wife of an Australian soldier. Mr. and Mrs. Connelly plan making their home in Vancouver.

Mrs. Ian Jardine, of 1540 Despard Avenue, was at the docks to greet her aunt, Miss H. Robinson, from Nelson, New Zealand.

It was a happy night for Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Jeffs, 3120 Earl Grey Street, whose son was on the ship. For the past six and a half years he has served with the British and New Zealand navies, and it was their first reunion in that time. He came from New Zealand.

"Blue Baby" Will Have Operation

Pictured above, the little girl will leave Victoria next Friday, and at the hospital will have a delicate operation on her heart.

The Victoria Lions Club has raised $3,328 for the girl. It was reported yesterday by E. A. (Ted) Edlin, chairman of the club's committee in charge of raising the necessary funds.

This is the second "blue baby" to be assisted by the Lions Club this year. Several months ago more than $4,000 was raised to send Janet No. 1 to the same hospital. She is now home, a happy and healthy girl.

Explains Why Offer Is Changed From Specifications in Tender

Reasons why the B.C. Electric Railway Co., Ltd., bid for the unified transportation system franchise does not conform exactly to the specifications laid down in the call for tenders was explained by W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president, in a letter to the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee, sent in conjunction with the tender.

Regarding the provision that transfers be interchangeable between all companies holding franchises within the area, Mr. Mainwaring said: "We know of no power which the committee or the individual municipalities possess to require other companies holding franchises to accept our transfers and consequently if we included such a term in our draft franchise, it would be binding ourselves to honour another company's transfers without obtaining any corresponding benefit for our passengers and so for ourselves."

Payment of the sum of $650,000 for track removal and street repair was described as "outside the realm of practicability in a 20-year franchise."

"Inasmuch as our use of the streets would be in common with other users, and would represent but a small fraction of the total use, it would seem inequitable to expect the public transportation rider to pay for the whole cost of paving such streets," the letter stated.

The condition requiring the principal officers of the tenderer to be located in Victoria was considered impossible since B. C. Electric main offices are already located in Vancouver, where the company does a far greater portion of its business.

Statistical information regarding available rolling stock and equipment was unobtainable due to the present unsettled state of the manufacturing market, Mr. Mainwaring said.

B.C.E.R. Franchise Is Perpetual Official Claims

Stating that the right to operate a street railway in Victoria and district which the B.C. Electric Railway Co., Ltd., enjoys under Section 12 of the Victoria Electric Railway and Light Company Act, 1894, is one of "indefinite duration," the company yesterday pointed out that any other person granted a franchise to operate in the same locality may find he is operating in competition with the street railway.

The statement was contained in a letter signed by W. C. Mainwaring, B.C.E.R. vice-president, submitted in conjunction with the company's bid for the Greater Victoria unified transportation system, opened yesterday, the only bid received.

The letter also stated that any successful tenderer who pays the sum of $650,000, called for in the specifications for track removal, "may not get anything for its money, as the municipalities concerned will not be in a position, without our consent, to remove our street car tracks."

These statements were not intended as a threat to be held over the heads of the municipalities, Mr. Mainwaring said, but to "obviate the possibility of litigation hereafter with anyone who may bid for and obtain a franchise in ignorance of our rights."

"Our position is that none of our rights may be infringed without our consent," he declared.

Agreement Between B.C.E.R. and Coach Lines Makes Integrated Transit System Possible

Providing complete integration of the bus services operated in Saanich by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, Ltd., with those carried on in other parts of Greater Victoria, an amended franchise agreement will be signed by one company on permits, passes or transfers issued by the other.

Payment of any percentage of operating revenues to the municipalities concerned, which may be required under the franchise to be signed with the municipalities

the two companies. Required percentage of revenues will be paid by each party into a joint pool, and from there apportioned to the municipalities concerned "in accordance with the respective interests therein of the said municipalities under the said franchise agreement."

Allocation of routes over, which each of the companies may operate last night. The integration feature is made possible under an agreement recently concluded between the Coach Lines and the B.C. Electric Railway Co. The latter company submitted the only tender on the unified transportation system for Greater Victoria.

Featuring a five-cent fare in conjunction with a 25-cent weekly permit, the revised franchise offer includes a seven-cent cash fare, a six and a quarter-cent ticket fare, and free transfers between all points in Saanich within a three and one-half mile radius from the city centre, the company announcement stated.

FARE EXTENDED TO NEW POINTS
This provides an extension of the new fare to several new points in Saanich, and, through the agreement with the B.C. Electric Railway Co., all points in Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, it was pointed out. Also provided is a transfer arrangement beyond the three and one-half mile circle to many other sections of urban Saanich.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines will service the northern section of Victoria under the agreement with the B.C. Electric Railway Co., and in connection with their franchise offer to Victoria, since the agreement permits the operation "of Coach Lines vehicles" with open doors through the area of Victoria contiguous to the routes in Saanich.

This ability to handle interior traffic, it is said, allows the Coach Lines to extend additional routes into Saanich. These new routes include Obed Avenue, Cowper Street, Saanich Road from Douglas Street, Cook Street and Maplewood Road.

EACH WILL TAKE OTHER'S TICKETS
Under the agreement between the Coach Lines and the B.C. Electric Railway Co., each agrees "to accept in payment for travel within the applicable fare zones on its vehicles operating with open doors within Greater Victoria the fare tickets (including permits and sold passes, if any) and transfers, sold or issued by the other party for use on its vehicles operating with open doors within Greater Victoria."

A system covering the redemption by the company selling fare tickets of all such tickets accepted by the other company has been provided. Also included is a provision for the adjustment, monetary or otherwise, of any inequality shown to exist between the number of persons carried by one company on permits, passes or transfers issued by the other.

Payment of any percentage of operating revenues to the municipalities concerned, which may be required under the franchise to be signed with the municipalities

the two companies. Required percentage of revenues will be paid by each party into a joint pool, and from there apportioned to the municipalities concerned "in accordance with the respective interests therein of the said municipalities under the said franchise agreement."

Transit Franchises

While the effectiveness of any franchise can only be demonstrated in its unimpeded operation, we believe that the Greater Victoria area has received a reasonable, workable and constructive offer from the British Columbia Electric Railway and the Vancouver Island Coach Lines for a co-ordinated motor bus transportation system serving the unified community. The British Columbia Electric's bid to Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, and the Coach Lines exchange of franchise offer to Saanich, come together in a joint agreement between the two companies tabled at the same time. In effect, Greater Victoria would benefit from one, united proposal promising stabilized and efficient public passenger transportation in the whole region in the near future.

It will be noted that three franchises are actually involved. One covering Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt township; and two dealing with Saanich, in its inner and outer sections. The whole, however, promises an integrated service to the public at uniform rates and with common privileges. There has been some degree of concession on the part of the two corporations identified in the joint bidding. The B.C.E.R. maintains its right to indefinite street railway operation here, but voluntarily proposes the removal of all street car tracks. The Coach Lines puts the inner wards section of its exclusive existing bus franchise on the table in exchange for comfortable privileges.

Widening degree of co-ordination and common ground between two large and entirely responsible firms does offer a practical result, and one which can be secured by contract enforceable in all of its terms. If the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee was none too sure of what it was asking—and that seems apparent from the record—the offering companies have gone beyond the formal specifications to produce companion draft-franchises which, in our view, rescue the situation and make it possible for the whole area to secure action on one of the most difficult of all its problems, public transportation.

The details of the companion bids will, naturally, require analysis and explanation, which will no doubt develop when negotiations get under way between the offering and the responding parties concerned.

Motor Bus Service

Meanwhile, it seems clear that the two companies have tendered in good faith; that they are fully competent to implement their proposals; and that the Greater Victoria area might wait a long time before it found other enterprise as soundly and as securely based. Leaving the details aside, what is offered is this: The elimination of street car service within 18 months, if possible; the operation of an integrated motor bus service in both urban and rural sections on a stated basis of fares, with full transfer privileges; a guarantee of adequate and modern service; an agreed rate of fixed taxation; and some help with street repavement, where apparently no legal obligation rests.

In any affair of franchise the contract is the ruling item. In this instance, the four municipalities have now full opportunity to say wherein they can improve the suggested contract. Any franchises granted will be in a slightly different position than their predecessors were. This time, the operations themselves will remain under the review of the Public Utilities Commission, the referee in this case between the municipalities and the proposed operating firms. While the record of the past may not be disregarded—some of it was very good and some of it shockingly bad—the contract is the place to insure any degree of performance that is desired.

The public will be the most interested in the removal of the street car tracks—for long desired here—and in the new fare structure on the proposed integrated service. The five cents-with-permit fare to the three, and a half-mile limit seems reasonable, and involves a reduction in some instances, as in the case of certain areas in Saanich. Transfer privileges on the whole system do not exist today, but have long been desired. School rates would be observed. In the number and quality of the motor buses used must rest the ultimate guarantee of effective service. The joint offers, however, bear every evidence of having been made in good faith. It is as such they should now be studied, as no doubt they will.

There are some provisions in the proposed draft of the main franchise that we do not like. The municipalities surely do not have to give rights that can be transferred to a chosen second party or to any other. The municipalities themselves are inviting trouble when they predicate the proportionate road repair allowance upon "gross fare revenues," a consideration often open to dispute. We are wondering, too, if those provisions for electrical appliances "over, on and under the streets," seemingly aimed at trolley coaches, may not yet turn out to be the elements of another "indeterminate" franchise. Such matters can be cleared up in discussion.

Clause 10 of the main franchise states this: "The Company shall progressively, as the necessary equipment becomes available, establish an adequate and convenient motor bus system in substitution for its present street railway system in the municipalities; to see that the work of substitution is completed within eighteen (18) months from the date when this agreement comes into force."

The promise of action there transcends in importance any technical objection that could be advanced. It is our sincere hope that the municipalities and the offering companies can now come together upon tested middle ground.

Reserve Army

Weather conditions have not been favorable to the Reserve Army's campaign this week for recruits, although it is satisfactory to hear that fair progress has been recorded. There is still a need for a greater response to the recruiting appeal launched jointly by the eight local units which comprise the reserve forces of the Greater Victoria district, however, and it is hoped that more recruits will be forthcoming to bring these units up to desired strength. While officially this is the last day of the recruiting drive, individuals will be able to enlist for peace-time service at any time afterwards.

In supporting the drive, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor said: "The patient, and sacrificial service of these units is our heritage, and I am pleased to support any movement which will serve to preserve this heritage."

That statement should find an echo in the hearts of many young Victoria citizens. The units in question have a proud record of active service during the war emergency behind them, one that imbues all their members with a self-respect and prestige that is no less valuable in peacetime. It is an honor to belong to these Victoria regiments at any time.

Many interesting and valuable training projects are in store for those who enlist for part-time service in the Reserve Army. The variety and scope of the training is such that every man is bound to find his own particular niche, from which much enjoyment is to be derived. Good rates of pay for evening attendance and annual camp periods are now authorized. Added to the satisfaction of doing an important national duty will be the promise of pleasant comradeship during a host of interesting experiences. Those who have not yet made up their minds about rejoining or enlisting for the first time should think it over. The Reserve Army needs willing volunteers.

Mr. Bevin's Plea

To the extent that Mr. Ernest Bevin's request for an all-inclusive report on armed forces everywhere is supported might be judged the sincerity of all proposals put forward to the United Nations about world disarmament. The British Foreign Secretary rejected Mr. Molotov's suggestion that reports be received only on the strength of forces outside their own boundaries as begging the question, as in reality it does. Accentuating certain specific areas gives rise to the suspicion that political motives dominate the inquiry, rather than an impartial desire to lighten the load of heavy armament expenditure.

Mr. Bevin made a point beyond rebuttal when he declared that his country came within inches of being wiped out because of its unilateral disarmament between the two world wars. His reminder that Hitler had no troops outside Germany yet that did not stop him from building an army which "nearly brought the world down," had a significance which could not have been lost to United Nations delegates. If the aims of all members of the United Nations are what they profess to be, it would seem that none should object to reporting of their armed forces wherever placed. A genuine desire for disarmament does not go hand in hand with concealment.

Great Britain and the United States have expressed their willingness to co-operate in disclosing the strength of their armed forces provided this investigation covers all troops, at home and abroad, of all member nations. That is a fair offer, and if effected in this spirit by Russia also a great stride would be taken towards the goal of general disarmament. The two matters are complementary, and one cannot be pursued without the other. Mr. Bevin's plea that the United Nations should build up an armed security council that could "guarantee the peace for 100 years," indicates the comforting sequel that could follow if agreement were reached on the disposition of present armed forces throughout the world.

Sonnet

Full many a glorious morning have I seen
Flatter the mountain-tops with sovereign eye,
Kissing with golden face the meadows green,
Gilding pale streams with heavenly alchemy;
Anon, permit the basest clouds to ride
With ugly rack on his celestial face,
And from the forlorn world his visage hide,
Stealing unseen to west with this disgrace:
Even so my sun one early morn did shine
With all triumphant splendor on my brow;
But out, alack! he was but one hour mine,
The region cloud hath washed him from my now.
Yet for him this my love no whit dis-
dareth,
Suns of the world may stain when heaven's sun stameth.

A PACIFIC POWER

(The Gazette, Montreal)

The Canadian Government's visible reluctance to underwrite its practice the international status it claims in theory is incomprehensible. The lack of ability of internationalism while it restricts its activities to the narrowest hemispheric provincialism does nothing to enhance Canada's authority abroad.

Whether Ottawa recognizes the facts of geography or not, Canada is a Pacific power. It has economic interests in that area; it has obvious defence responsibilities there. As one of the Allied nations that won the victory, it has a duty to its allies. Above all, it has a duty to the Canadian people to maintain Canadian prestige everywhere. These commitments, however intangible, involve practical obligations which cannot be denied.

POWER OF THE VOTER

(Ottawa Journal)

The United States voter during the past five years could not possibly understand all the issues that his Government had to deal with, could not understand the reasons or techniques of all its acts. Yet the American voter did know that with him rested the power to turn his Government out. For one reason or another he might be willing to submit to orders and regulations; his submission to them was made easier by his knowing that in due course, if he so wished, he could do something effective to bring them to an end.

That is the great difference between totalitarianism and democracy. Totalitarian acts and tendencies may make their appearance under democracy, but there can be no death of democracy so long as voters retain the power to deal with them and with their sponsors. Under real totalitarianism there is no way to make an end—no way except by bullets.

BIRTH CERTIFICATES

(Edmonton Journal)

Official records have a habit of following tradition, regardless of how cumbersome the result may be. Ontario, however, has broken away from the "good old-fashioned way" in the matter of birth certificates at last.

Its vital statistics branch, according to The Municipal World, is now issuing a certificate on a piece of special paper only three and a half by two and a half inches. This compares with the old style certificate of seven inches by eight and a half.

The new certificate may be carried in a wallet without folding. It is sealed in a transparent casing that is both water and perspiration proof. The material does not burn easily.

CHANGE OF NAME

(Toronto Globe and Mail)

Considerable public interest has been raised by the application of Mr. Jaroslav Rezek, who was born in Czechoslovakia, and his Canadian-born wife and son, to change the family surname to Rennie. This has arisen mainly from the attempt of Mr. Thomas Rennie and his brother, Robert, both residents of this city, to prevent the change. They offered several specific reasons against the change, but there seemed no doubt that they were, in the words of the judge, ultimately moved by "resentment (against) a person of foreign extraction assuming the old Scottish name of Rennie, a family of good repute."

Judge Samuel Factor, in a judgment of more than ordinary merit, noted the current of prejudice and repudiated it by granting the application. Henceforth, Mr. Rezek and his family will be known by the name of Rennie. No greater risk will now endanger the reputation of the Rennie name than is borne by families of any name which might, and sometimes do, produce a "black sheep." Judge Factor noted that even the name Rennie was once "de Rennie," and it probably got changed to the present form for much the same reason which moved the former Mr. Rezek to change his surname.

SAFETY OF THE SEAS

(Windsor Daily Star)

Britain does right in proceeding to sweep the Straits of Corfu free of mines, regardless of the unreasonable objections voiced by Albania. If that country tries in any way to halt the operation, a charge of aggression could lie against her.

The British have a direct interest in the presence of mines in that waterway. They have already lost two ships and many men. There is, however, the broader consideration of the safety of world shipping. It is not only the privilege but the duty of any nation to sweep up mines wherever they are found floating, and anyone who objects must respect to have his motives questioned.

Shopping in Great Britain Is Dreary Task

In recent weeks I have noticed at the butcher's window every day, and with luck might get a pound of sausages, and once in the course of eight months her turn came for offal, and she was allowed half a pound of liver (she was shopping for five people, by the way).

Now for the milk ration. Last Winter the ration was two pints per person, per week—not, from the milkman's one's choice, but from the one whom the Ministry of Food had decided should deliver down one's street—and one 12-ounce can of powdered milk milk every eight weeks. Children, expectant mothers and T.B. cases were allowed seven pints per week. Eggs were dished out one or two at a time, on an average of one every two weeks. Fish was rationed, and the fishermen were generally open once or twice a week for a couple of hours with fresh herrings or cod. Poultry or rabbits were almost unobtainable, though last Christmas my husband managed through a friend, to buy for $4 a rather old and underfed white Leghorn hen—feathers and all.

Old, yes, and dried eggs—we had one carton equivalent to one dozen eggs every eight weeks, and they were the housewife's most treasured item; we had them when ever we had nothing else to have, but in January they sent them all to starving Europe and left us with only porridge for breakfast and vegetables with Bovril gravy for supper!

And so the British servicemen in Europe had to start sending home food parcels to his family in England. I could write many more pages on this subject. I could mention the fruit, and the tomatoes, and the endless variety of fresh and canned vegetables, the citrus fruits and the canned and bottled juices which we in Canada can buy, and of which I used to think with longing a few months ago. I could mention the 34 points per month with which we had to buy oatmeal, corn flakes, canned pork and beans, Spam (which was a luxury and, at 16 points a can, beyond our means), sardines, dried lima beans, corn

Great disappointment was expressed by misty children who had sleds cached in basements and attics ready to enjoy sport provided by Jack Frost. They wanted several inches of snow, but their parents had visions of stiff backs from cleaning off sidewalks and the grim thought of small fuel piles rapidly dwindling. "How do you like the weather?" a Vancouver Street resident asked a stranger while they were waiting for a bus at the intersection of Southgate Street. "Fine, in fact I rather enjoy it," was the reply. "Your remark surprises me," the Fairfield man snorted. "I lived in Alaska for 20 years. This would be a mild Winter day there," the other laughed. A brief glance at the weather summary of principal Canadian cities shows that Victoria is fortunate, compared with the zero weather experienced by other citizens. The city of sunshine and flowers will soon come into its own again.

Some motorists found the fluid showed up leaks and other old defects in their radiators because it reaches a higher temperature than plain water. MAY EXTEND BOUNDARIES OF DUNCAN Photograph shows Craig Street at the south entrance to the business district of Duncan. H. Gray, B. W. W. Cocks and H. Lowe, members of the Duncan Chamber of Commerce, are investigating a plan to extend the city boundary northward to Sherman Road and eastward to Lowville Park and Alexander subdivision to take in part of North Cowichan municipality, and has already been discussed by Duncan City Council in committee.

Several New Businesses Under Way at Chemainus

CHEMAINUS, Nov. 22.—Chemainus Towing Company, operated by Hamilton Baillie, Jr., and George Hemmingsen, recently purchased the tug Sarah II and Saravan from the Van Frome Towing Company. The move is one of several that mark the expansion of business in this community.

Harry Ewart and John O. Belknap, war veterans, have opened the Vets Taxi near the Government landing. They own two new automobiles, and provide 24-hour service.

J. G. Shaw, a tailor from Ponoka, Alta., is completing a 35 by 20-foot stucco building to house a cleaning, pressing and tailoring business. He also plans to carry a stock of men's clothing.

George Drab, formerly of Victoria, has opened a new billiard parlor on the Island Highway near the Victoria Lumber Co., Ltd., planning mill. He expects to put in a stock of soft drinks and tobacco.

Roy Leason is building a shop where he intends to sell and repair bicycles.

Other business ventures planned here include a dock for shipbuilding, and facilities for the buying of fish and oysters from fishermen.

New School Is Planned For Duncan

DUNCAN, Nov. 22.—With the passing of an order in council awarding $26,588 in insurance from the Duncan Senior High School fire to trustees of Cowichan School District, No. 65, the school board hopes the controversy over the money has ended.

Reeve D. D. Chapman, North Cowichan municipality, claimed funds to build the school came from the City of Duncan and its municipality, and therefore money from the insurance claim belonged to the two municipalities, rather than the school board.

He registered opposition to any plan to use the insurance money to make additions to the present junior high school building, unless unorganized districts bore their share of the cost.

The order in council pointed out title to the school was vested in the City of Duncan, and part of its cost was borne by North Cowichan municipality, while insurance was carried by the school board.

It stated: "The money are to be used by the school board irrespective of the person in whose name the assets are vested."

"It is recommended that pursuant to the provisions of Section 12K of the Public Schools Act, as amended in 1946, the Board of Trustees of Cowichan School District, No. 65, be directed to apply said moneys in the amount of $26,588 to replace the school building which it represents."

School trustees recently approved plans of Hubert Savage, Victoria, for a new 24-room junior-senior high school at a cost which has not yet been estimated.

It will be erected on a 12-acre site to be purchased from North Cowichan municipality, north of the City of Duncan boundary.

Full details will be presented to ratepayers before a plebiscite is held.

To Build Wharf At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI, Nov. 22.—A new $50,000 wharf at the foot of Melrose Avenue is to be built by the Gulf Marine Service Co.

The firm also expects to begin erecting a 40 by 80-foot building on the wharf to match the present one on land. The wharf is to be 260 feet long and 20 feet wide. A "T" on the end will be 60 by 20 feet.

The company has on hand orders totaling more than $80,000 and is owned and operated by Robert Morey and John E. Burke.

Island Potatoes Win First Prize

COURTENAY, Nov. 22.—National honors came to a Comox district resident this week with the announcement that R. U. Hurford, a local farmer, had been awarded first prize at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, for his entry of White Rose potatoes.

Although Mr. Hurford has won prizes in local competition, this is his first national award.

City Employees To Get Increases

COURTENAY, Nov. 22.—City of Courtenay electrical workers will get a 10 per cent increase in wages, it was decided at city council meeting this week. The increase is subject to the approval of Local 226, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Poppy Proceeds Up

PORT ALBERNI, Nov. 22.—Poppy Day receipts this year increased more than $170 over the amount collected Poppy Day, 1945.

According to the Canadian Legion, Branch 85, poppy committee, the amount collected was $416. Last year $270 was raised. The branch's territory included Port Alberni, Bamfield, and Ucluelet.
